

Brett Powers

LegalShield

I'm an original Okie from Muskogee, I think we all know the song. I first made it to Texas in 1984 as a pitcher on a baseball scholarship at North Texas State University (now UNT). I have been a resident here ever since. I then ventured into the restaurant/bar industry as a bartender in the late 80's, you could say I was just like Sam on the old hit series Cheers. I made many a friend during my 28 years of tending bar, of which most are still my friends. I married my beautiful wife Sheryl in 2008 and that's where my true wine adventure started. Being from California and a wine lover, she introduced me to wine and I haven't looked back. I fell in love with wine and all the different nuances, bouquets, and flavors that when done right....leave your pallet wanting more.